FORTY NINER COACHES

Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw

HEAD COACH

Any writer attempting to paint a word-picture of Lawrence Timothy (Buck) Shaw will be frustrated from the beginning by seeming paradoxes which blur the true assessment of the San Francisco 49er head coach.

There were—and are—many Shaws and the daring historian who takes pen in hand or places talon fingers on a typewriter keyboard must be careful to capture all of the flashing qualities of a football genius who banishes his color and excitement beneath an exterior of urbane gentility.

We find Shaw, the Stuart, Iowa, farm boy, contrasted with the sophisticated yet humble and understanding leader of 1954.

We can see Shaw, the rough and tough Notre Dame tackle of 1921, and the sensitive man who hates to tell a youth he does not have enough talent for professional football.

We will discover Shaw, an unknown aide at Santa Clara in 1929, who ascended the peak of collegiate coaching fame and has gone on to even greater glory in the professional ranks.

We will uncover Shaw who tore down the "win at any price" accusation leveled at American football when he told his 1948 team to protect the injured leg of Cleveland's Otto Graham.

Best of all, we will find a Shaw who is generous in victory and philosophical in defeat, forever willing to open the dressing-room doors to the accredited representatives of the press, radio and television—the 49er room is open, in triumph or travail.

Buck's outstanding career at Notre Dame—he was a senior when the Four Horsemen were freshmen—has overshadowed the fact that he won a varsity football letter at Creighton University in the fall of 1918 as a freshman. Creighton was the nearest major university to his Stuart home. The influenza epidemic of that year forced Creighton to curtail the schedule after four games.

Buck decided to transfer to Notre Dame and, as a sophomore, won a starting berth on the 1919 Fighting Irish eleven. At 185 pounds—his present weight—he became one of the outstanding linemen in Notre Dame gridiron history. He spearheaded a forward wall that opened holes for the immortal George Gipp. The Irish were undefeated in the 1919-20 season and suffered only one loss—to Iowa—in 1921. Ironically, that Iowa game was the only time Buck's parents saw him play.

On Knute Rockne's recommendation, Buck accepted the coaching job at North Carolina State in 1922, then went on to the University of Nevada. The turning point in his coaching career came in 1929 when he joined Maurice (Clipper) Smith at Santa Clara.

Santa Clara was just entering its Golden Age of football, an era that found the Broncos emerging as an "independent" power on the Pacific Coast. When "The Clipper" decided to accept an offer from Villanova before the 1936 season, Santa Clara turned to Shaw—and the school's decision was upheld in miraculous fashion. Buck's 1936 and 1937 teams were so outstanding they were invited to the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans and responded with consecutive upset victories over Louisiana State. The '37 team still holds the national intercollegiate record of containing opponents to exactly 69.9 yards per game.

In the light of later events, the most significant item in Shaw's Santa Clara tenure was that he met Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito, a member of the class of 1931. The friendship formed during those days has blossomed into an owner-coach relationship that is now the oldest in the National Football League.

Through 1942—when Santa Clara suspended football—Buck's Broncos captured 47 victories against only 10 losses and four ties. In 1943-44, Shaw served in an advisory capacity to the Army's physical training program at Santa Clara.

In the latter part of 1944, Morabito began to formulate plans for the inclusion of a San Francisco team in the embryonic All-America Conference. His first major step was to sign Shaw as head coach. He granted Shaw permission to fill in as head coach at the University of California in 1945.

The AAC began operations in 1946 and Buck was to undergo four years of a "bridesmaid" role to the Cleveland Browns. The bitterness of that position was assuaged somewhat in October of 1949 at San Francisco when the 49ers humiliated the Browns, 56 to 28.

"On that afternoon," said Glenn (Pop) Warner, "the 49ers were the greatest football team I have ever seen."

The 49ers made an inauspicious debut in the National League in 1950, winning only three games and losing nine. But in the past three seasons they have been among the leading contenders for the championship.

Buck and his wife, Marge, reside in Atherton, Calif., 30 miles south of San Francisco. They have two married daughters and five grandchildren.

James Wilmer (Jim) Lawson

ASSISTANT COACH

Jim Lawson is the 49ers' "Old Pro"—a survivor of the helmetless, ferocious days when professional football players were accustomed to four or five games a week at minimum salaries.

Jim, a native of Long Beach, Calif., is one of Stanford's all-time ends. He won All-America recognition in 1924 and climaxed his career with a typical slashing exhibition against Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen in the Rose Bowl game of January 1, 1925. After graduation, he toured the nation with Red Grange's professional club and learned the ins-and-outs of the game that he now teaches successfully to 49er candidates.

He returned to Stanford in 1932 as an assistant to Glenn S. (Pop) Warner and subsequently served under Claude (Tiny) Thornhill and Clark Shaughnessy. Jim was named head coach after the 1941 season but joined the Navy as a lieutenant and saw combat action in the Pacific aboard the USS West Virginia.

Buck Shaw picked him as chief aide in 1946 and the productive association has continued to the present. Jim and Mrs. Lawson reside in Palo Alto and have two grown sons.

John Philip (Phil) Bengtson

ASSISTANT COACH

Phil Bengtson's Swedish-Irish heritage can be seen in the fighting 49er lines that have been the stoutest in the league for the past three seasons. A native of St. Paul, he gained All-America honors as a tackle at Minnesota in 1933-34 and played in the East-West Shrine classic. Phil coached at the University of Missouri from 1935 through 1939, then came west to Stanford with Clark Shaughnessy in 1940.

During World War II, he served in the Navy's pre-flight program at Iowa and had Pacific duty aboard aircraft carriers. He returned to Stanford in 1946 with Marcy Schwartz. In 1951, Phil accepted a 49er assignment and has won recognition throughout the professional ranks. He and Mrs. Bengtson live in Menlo Park, California, with their four children—Jay, 11; Bobbie, 8; Betty, 6, and Brian, 4.

Joseph George (Joe) Vetrano

ASSISTANT COACH AND CHIEF SCOUT

Joe Vetrano was a 49er "plank owner," joining the club in 1946 after service with the Army Air Forces. His record of 104 consecutive extra points, established in 1948-49 in the All-America Conference, stood as an all-time professional record until Cleveland's Lou Groza boosted the mark to 109 last year.

A native of Asbury Park, New Jersey, Joe graduated from Mississippi Southern before World War II. In 1950 he was married to Violet Lundin, a former United Airlines stewardess. He annually covers upwards of 25,000 miles by automobile in search of future talent for the 49ers.

F. . . .

NOMELLINI, Leo—Tackle Ht. 6'3" Wt. 252 Minnesota

In four years as a professional footballer, Leo has won just about every laurel in the book—unanimous All-Pro defensive tackle three times and a member of the Western Conference Pro Bowl team on four occasions . . . the 49ers' first draft choice in '50 after he was an All-American for Bernie Bierman's Gophers in 1948-49 . . . born in Lucca, Italy, and brought to Chicago as an infant . . . his family was so poor he couldn't go out for sports in high school because he sold papers and worked at other odd jobs after classes . . . enlisted in Marine Corps in '42 and played football for the first time at Cherry Point, N. C. . . . saw combat action on Okinawa . . . enrolled at Minnesota in 1946 and was a starting guard in the first college game he'd ever seen . . . also won two varsity letters in wrestling—he was Big 10 heavyweight champion in 1949—and two in track as a shot-putter . . . one of the nation's best drawing wrestlers during the winters . . . set a San Francisco record gate of $57,000 with Lou Thesz in '52 . . . married to the former Ruth Carole Benson of Minneapolis . . . son Kim, 3, and daughter, Lane, 1 . . . biggest pro thrill was blocking a Ram punt for a touchdown in '51 . . .

PERRY, Joe—Fullback Ht. 6'0" Wt. 210 Compton J.C.

In 1953, "The Jet" became the fourth player in NFL history to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season . . . he'd been knocking at this sacred door for three years and realized his goal behind the slashing blocking of his teammates . . . at 27, he's playing his seventh season with the 49ers—and wants to break that 1,000 mark again . . . a native of Stevens, Ark., Joe grew up in Los Angeles where he starred in football and track at Jordan High . . . enrolled at Compton Junior College where he won two football letters and was timed in 9.7 for the 100-yard dash . . . 49er scouts first saw him in action for the Alameda, Calif., Naval Air Station and signed him to a free agent contract when he received his Navy discharge . . . ran 47 yards to a touchdown against Buffalo the first time he ever carried the ball as a pro . . . was the NFL's fifth best ground-gainer in 1950-51, then climbed to third in '52 before moving into the top spot last season . . . is the all-time best 49er gainer with 4,468 yards on 802 carries for a magnificent 5.5 average . . . the second best all-time scorer with 324 points . . . three-time Pro Bowl selection . . . All-Pro for two straight years . . . works as public relations man for Burgermeister Beer and as a disc jockey for Oakland's KWBR during off-season . . . resides in San Francisco . . .

SCHABARUM, Pete—Halfback Ht. 5'11" Wt. 185 California

Being a member of three consecutive Rose Bowl teams at the University of California was "Pistol Pete's" greatest sports thrill . . . they say he has ice water in his veins because he can relax so completely he goes sound asleep in the dressing room before a game . . . born in Los Angeles and attended high school at Covina, Calif. . . . played every backfield position for California in 1948-49-50 and was co-captain in his senior season . . . played in Honolulu Hula Bowl . . . had fine rookie year with 49ers in 1951, then enlisted in Air Force . . . hampered by ankle injury last year . . . can go on both offense and defense . . . bachelor . . . resides now on South Pasadena, Calif. . . .

SOLTAU, Gordy—End Ht. 6'2" Wt. 195 Minnesota

This book would not be complete without a story on Gordy even though a shoulder separation may sideline him for most of the season . . . an amazing career in peace and war . . . native of Duluth, Minn., where he starred on the football, basketball, track and ski teams at Central High . . . enlisted in Navy in '42 and saw action with the Navy's famed underwater "Frogmen" . . . also performed cloak-and-dagger work for the OSS . . . enrolled at Minnesota in 1946 and won four varsity letters in football . . . lettered in basketball and hockey and pitched semi-pro baseball during the summers . . . All-Big 10 end in 1949 and starred in the East's win over the West in the San Francisco Shrine game . . . played in Honolulu Hula Bowl . . . a member of the Eisenhower Republican Speakers' Bureau for the '52 political campaign . . . has year-around sales job with Stuart Oxygen Company of San Francisco . . . the 49ers' all-time scoring leader with 342 points . . . led NFL past two seasons . . . best season was '53 with 114 points on six touchdowns, 48 (out of 49) extra points and 10 field goals . . . always the clutch player . . . his field goal in the last six seconds gave San Francisco a 31-30 upset win over the Rams last year . . . three weeks later in Los Angeles he caught a last-minute pass that again thwarted the Rams, 31-27 . . . married to the former Nancy Olson . . . they have a son, Mark, 10 months . . . resides in Palo Alto, Calif. . . .

ST. CLAIR, Bob—Tackle Ht. 6'8½" Wt. 262 U.S.F.—Tulsa

After only one season with the 49ers, huge Bob ranks as one of the most popular players with local fans . . . good reason—he's the only native-born player on the squad . . . attended Polytechnic High before enrolling at the University of San Francisco and gaining All-Coast recognition as an end and tackle . . . U.S.F. dropped football after his junior year and Bob transferred to Tulsa where he was picked for the All-Missouri Valley squad . . . despite his size, he is quick and agile . . . Coach Buck Shaw rates him as the best offensive tackle in the club's history . . . is used on defense for goal-line stands . . . is carving out a promising business career in San Francisco . . . sells insurance and also works in the public relations department of the Bergermeister brewery . . . married to his high school sweetheart, the former Ann Wickstrom . . . they have three children, Lynn 5, Gary 2½, and Gail 9 months . . .

TITTLE, Y. A.—Quarterback Ht. 6'0" Wt. 190 Louisiana State

The fact that this balding, 27-year-old pass master is the 49ers' key player was more than emphasized last year when he missed three games because of a serious facial injury and the club lost two of them . . . had his greatest-ever pro year despite the mishap as he finished third in the league in aerial work and directed one of the most devastating ground attacks ever witnessed . . . completed 149 of 259 passes for 2,121 yards and 20 touchdowns . . . his completion average of 57.5 was second only to Otto Graham's . . . in three years as a 49er has completed 318 of 581 passes for 4,336 yards and 39 scores . . . played for Baltimore Colts in 1948-49-50 . . . was 49ers' first draft choice when the '50 Colts were disbanded . . . named AAC's "Rookie of Year" for '48 . . . his all-time record (six years) is 1,574 passes attempted, 788 completed for 10,951 yards and 77 touchdowns . . . he is fourth in all-time NFL efficiency ratings with 53.5 . . . native of Marshall, Texas, went from prep school there to Louisiana State where he was named on the All-Southeastern Conference team in 1946-47 . . . played in North-South game in 1945-46 . . . married to the former Minnette DeLoach . . . They have three children, Dianne 5, Mike 2, Pat 1 . . . has insurance business in Palo Alto, Calif., during the off-season . . . his biggest pro thrill was beating the Rams twice last year—and he played a major role in both upsets . . .

WILSON, Billy—End Ht. 6'3½" Wt. 190 San Jose State

Other 49ers call him "Poor Devil" because he goes out and gets those hook passes which leave him at the mercy of rugged defenders . . . Billy doesn't mind, although he'd rather be called "Snuff" or "Goose" . . . he was born on an Indian reservation in Sayre, Okla., moving to Campbell, Calif., for grammar and high school . . . outstanding in basketball as well as football at San Jose State . . . drafted by the 49ers in 1950 when he still had another year of college eligibility . . . has been brilliant ever since joining the pros in '51 . . . is the 49ers' No. 3 all-time receiver with 92 catches for 1,412 yards and 16 touchdowns . . . ranked seventh in league last year with 51 for 840 yards and 10 touchdowns . . . married to the former Shirley Ann Dodd . . . they reside in San Jose with their son, Bill, Jr., 10 months . . . works for public relations department of Burgermeister beer during off-season . . .

GALIFFA, Arnie—Quarterback Ht. 6'2" Wt. 195 Army

The 49ers made their most significant trade in history last month when they obtained Arnie from the New York Giants in return for Bob Van Doren and an undisclosed draft choice . . . unanimous All-America quarterback at West Point in 1949, Arnie spent three years in the Army, including eight combat months in Korea . . . received the Bronze Star for wiping out a North Korean machine gun nest with a grenade that observers estimated traveled 75 yards . . . Red Blaik called him the "finest college quarterback I've ever seen" . . . comes from Donora, Pa., home of Stan Musial . . . originally drafted by Green Bay in 1950 but traded to the Giants for a first draft choice and a halfback . . . played two games for the Giants last year and distinguished himself by throwing a last-second pass that gave New York a win over the Chicago Cardinals . . . sidelined by back injury for most of season . . . resides in Donora with wife and daughter . . .

WILLIAMS, Johnny—Halfback Ht. 5'11" Wt. 180 So. California

After two years with the Washington Redskins, Johnny becomes another of the long line of fine U.S.C. players who have joined the 49ers . . . was obtained by trade for tackle Ray Collins . . . Coach Buck Shaw believes he has helped give the 49ers their best defensive backfield in three years . . . as a rookie in '52, fourth in the league in punt returns with 24 for 366 yards . . . made auspicious debut in first game as a Redskin when he returned a kickoff 100 yards against Los Angeles . . . excelled as a "spot" man for the Trojans . . . in two seasons of pro ball has intercepted 11 passes . . .

THE ROOKIES

BRUMFIELD, Jackson—End Ht. 6'1" Wt. 215 Miss. Southern

Don't make the mistake of calling this gentleman "Jack." His name is Jackson, suh, and he's one of those determined rebels from Franklinton, La. . . . signed by the 49ers as a free agent on the advice of Coach Joe Vetrano (who also attended Miss. Southern), Brumfield has more than made up for the loss of Charley Powell to the fight game . . . unsung and almost unknown at the beginning of training camp, he nailed down the starting right end defensive post and the club as never had a more aggressive flankman . . . attended high school at Franklinton before going to Mississippi Southern where he played for Thad Vann for three seasons and captained the surprising 1953 squad which knocked over heavily favored foes . . . Alabama was listed among the victims . . . bachelor . . .

CAMPBELL, Marion—Tackle-End Ht. 6'3" Wt. 245 Georgia

His full name is Francis Marion Campbell in honor of the famed Revolutionary War general—Francis Marion . . . the "Swamp Fox" . . . co-captain of Georgia's '51 team and named the most valuable player . . . enlisted in the Army . . . 49ers drafted him third in January of '52 and were more than content to wait until he was ready for pro ball . . . native of Chester, S. C., and is another eligible bachelor . . . played in Blue-Gray and Senior Bowl games after his senior year at Georgia . . . All-Southeastern Conference tackle three straight years . . . can go either way at tackle or fills in at defensive end . . . biggest college thrill was beating Maryland in 1950 and North Carolina in 1951 . . . a golfer . . . plans furniture business career during the off-season.

CASSARA, Frank—FB-Linebacker Ht. 6'0" Wt. 215 St. Mary's

One of the three St. Mary's lads still playing football (the Gaels abandoned the game after Frank's senior season in 1950) . . . the others are John Henry Johnson of the 49ers and Will Sherman of the Rams . . . born in San Fernando, Calif., where he attended high school . . . has the honor of being named the most valuable player in the last football game ever played by St. Mary's—against Villanova in 1950 . . . captained the Gaels as a senior . . . a 49er training camp surprise for he had been in the U. S. Coast Guard for three years and was signed as a free agent by Coach Buck Shaw . . . biggest college thrill was an 86-yard touchdown run against U.S.F. in '49 . . . plans to coach . . . another bachelor . . .

CONNOLLY, Ted—G-T Ht. 6'3" Wt. 230 Santa Clara-Tulsa

After Ted's sophomore year at Santa Clara, he was tabbed as potentially an outstanding pro by Al Ruffo, former 49er assistant coach . . . when Broncos abandoned football after the 1951 season, he transferred to Tulsa and captured All-Missouri Valley recognition . . . born in Oakland, Calif., attended Piedmont High where he was an All-Alameda County star in football and basketball . . . married to the former Mary Heidt, niece of orchestra leader Horace Heidt . . . 49ers' ninth draft choice last January, fulfilling his ambition to play for the San Francisco pro club . . .

HANTLA, Bob—Guard Ht. 6'1" Wt. 200 Kansas

After watching Bob perform for the West in the annual Shrine classic at San Francisco, Buck Shaw agreed with Big 7 observers who rated him as one of the outstanding guards in the nation the past three seasons . . . native of St. John, Kansas . . . attended Meade, Kansas, High School before enrolling at K.U. where he was All-Big 7 for his three varsity seasons . . . overcame handicap of crossed eyes—an operation corrected this two years ago—to be a football star . . . the 49ers' fifth draft choice . . . played in All-Star game last August . . . his hobby is photography . . .

JOHNSON, John Henry—HB-FB 6'2" Wt. 205 St. Mary's
Arizona State (Tempe)

Ever hear of Waterproof, La.? . . . you will during the next few years for that's where John Henry was born back in 1929 . . . has lived most of his life in Pittsburg, Calif., where he received just about every honor ever accorded a high school athlete . . . won letters in football, basketball, baseball and track . . . ran 180-yard low hurdles in 19.8 and set a state mark of 148 feet in the discus . . . as a sophomore at St. Mary's in 1950, he is credited with single-handedly gaining a 7-7 tie with a Georgia team that was favored to win by five touchdowns . . . offense or defense—John Henry just wants to play . . . transferred to Arizona State when St. Mary's abandoned football and was picked on the All-Border Conference team in 1952 . . . Pittsburgh Steelers nabbed him early in the '53 draft but he decided to go to Canada where he was named the most valuable player in the Western Interprovincial Football Union . . . the writers up north named him to five positions—and he was tops at them all . . . scored nine touchdowns for the last-place Calgary Stampeders . . . 49ers got him in a trade with Pittsburgh . . . this could be the greatest trade in pro history . . . Frankie Albert says he'll be the pro rookie of the year . . . in first five exhibition games of '54 he more than lived up to his clippings . . . married and has four children . . .

SAGELY, Floyd—End-Halfback Ht. 6'1" Wt. 187 Arkansas

Floyd's from Van Buren, Ark., the town made famous by Bob Burns . . . plays end on offense and halfback on defense . . . All-State end at Van Buren for two years and also garnered recognition in basketball, baseball and track . . . All-Southwest Conference end at Arkansas in '53 . . . four basketball letters as a Razorback guard . . . married, no children . . . plans to go into the insurance business . . . last year caught 30 passes for 550 yards and three TD's, averaging 55 minutes per game . . .

TIDWELL, Billy—Halfback Ht. 5'9" Wt. 185 Texas A&M

Billy has joined the Texas contingent on the 49er roster . . . native of Hearne in the Lone Star state and still resides there . . . in his personal history for the 49er publicity department he says there was "nothing outstanding" about his four football campaigns for Texas A&M . . . that's a modest way of forgetting about a five-yard ground-gaining average and the fact that in his senior year of 1951 he was the punt return leader in the Southwest Conference . . . was the 49ers' third draft choice but decided to spend two years in the Air Force . . . a very fast and explosive runner and can go both ways . . . a bachelor . . .

Y. A. Tittle (1951-53).....	581	318	4,336	39	37

Albert established all-time professional record of 29 touchdowns passes in 1948 in the AAC. The NFL record is 28 set by Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears in 1943.

Tittle's all-time record is as follows: 1574 passes attempted, 788 completed for 10,951 yards and 77 touchdowns, with 83 intercepted. (He was with the Baltimore Colts in 1948-49-50.)

In passing efficiency, Tittle ranks fourth in the all-time NFL ratings and Albert is fifth for passers with 500 or more attempts. Sammy Baugh leads with a 56.7 efficiency rating, followed by Otto Graham, 55.4; Norman Van Brocklin, 54.1; Tittle, 53.5; Albert, 52.6; Tommy Thompson, 52.1, and Sid Luckman, 51.8.

As a rookie with Baltimore in 1948, Tittle established an all-time professional record when only nine of his 289 passes were intercepted.

Albert's record of being responsible for 37 touchdowns in 1948—running and passing—is also an all-time professional mark.
